SEYBERT, District Judge:

On December 10, 2009, the Court held oral argument on Plaintiffs' motions for reconsideration. At the outset of that proceeding, the Court asked the Plaintiffs, on the record, to which claims their motions applied. The next day, the Court issued a Memorandum and Order Granting in part and Denying in part

Plaintiffs' motions for reconsideration ("December 11 Order"). In that Order, the Court memorialized its prior conversation with Plaintiffs' counsel, held at the proceeding, as to which claims remained dismissed:

To be clear, Kogut does not seek reconsideration of his conspiracy claim, none of the Plaintiffs seek reconsideration of their false arrest and false imprisonment claims, Halstead's Children do not seek reconsideration of their claims for loss of familial association; and Restivo and Halstead do not seek reconsideration for their claims based on (1) failure to intercede; (2) intentional or reckless infliction of emotional distress; (3) negligent infliction of emotional distress; (4) negligent supervision; and (5) respondeat superior. Thus, these claims remain DISMISSED.

(Dec. 11 Order 10, n.8.) On December 15, 2009, counsel for Plaintiffs Restivo and Halstead submitted a letter to the Court, seeking clarification of the December 11 Order as it applies to their respondeat superior claims against Nassau County.

Based on the December 10 proceeding and the Court's December 11 Order, Restivo and Halstead's claims for respondeat superior based on their state law malicious prosecution claims remain DISMISSED. This in no way, however, affects the County's potential liability under any of Plaintiffs' remaining theories.

SO ORDERED.
